

Empire Test Pilots' School

Established over 70 years ago, the Empire Test Pilots' School (ETPS) is the first of its kind worldwide.

Our aim is to teach experienced pilots and flight test engineers the philosophy and skills required to undertake all forms of research and development test flying. Pilots and flight test engineers learn as a team to develop the collaborative, critical mind-set needed in today's flight test programmes.

Working in partnership with the UK Ministry of Defence (MOD), ETPS provides the MOD, overseas governments and civilian aerospace customers with training in the test and evaluation of aircraft.
